

HEALTHCARE INNOVATION AND ENTREPRENEURSHIP GRADUATE CREDIT CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

Person-in-Charge	Cheryl Thompson
Program Code	HIE
Campus(es)	Harrisburg Hershey

Healthcare innovation and entrepreneurship are powerful catalysts in transforming patient care and outcomes—ultimately leading to a healthier society.

The Penn State Healthcare Innovation and Entrepreneurship Graduate Certificate offers an exciting opportunity for students and professionals from diverse fields — including healthcare, engineering, business, life science, and clinical practice — to gain specialized tools and inter-professional competencies necessary to lead medical innovation and healthcare transformation.

This dynamic program equips participants with the skills to become change agents capable of identifying and addressing critical healthcare challenges and unmet medical needs. Participants can explore specialized topics essential for healthcare innovation from clinical, administrative, research, product, or policy perspectives.
