

MULTIDISCIPLINARY ARTS, SOCIAL SCIENCES, SCIENCES, AND HUMANITIES, B.A.

Seven Penn State campuses are scheduled for closure after Spring 2027: DuBois, Fayette, New Kensington, Mont Alto, Shenango, Wilkes-Barre, and York. New students are not being admitted at these campuses.

Begin Campus: Any Penn State Campus

End Campus: Erie

Program Description

In this interdisciplinary major students may pursue broad interests and develop their own specialized programs when their interests are not congruent with established programs. The B.A. degree in Multidisciplinary Arts, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Humanities (MASSH) can be a terminal degree, or students can prepare for graduate school, professional school, or employment in business, government, or industry.

The MASSH degree is one of the most flexible undergraduate degree programs in the University. Students can structure a program of study around their individual interests and career plans and can develop background in areas where Penn State Erie, The Behrend College, does not currently offer majors.

For further information and a complete list of courses, contact the School of Humanities and Social Sciences.

What is Multidisciplinary Arts, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Humanities?

Multidisciplinary Arts, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Humanities is a liberal arts degree built upon study of the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, natural sciences, mathematics, and liberal studies. It is a choose-your-own-adventure academic program with flexibility that allows students to design a major around their personal interests and career goals.

You Might Like This Program If...

- Your career goals are not met by an existing Penn State Behrend degree program.
- You want a flexible major that allows you to explore varied interests.
- You are a transfer or adult student who wants to maximize your previously earned college credits.
- You are a self-directed learner.