Professional Licensure/Certification

Many U.S. states and territories require professional licensure/certification to be employed. If you plan to pursue employment in a licensed profession after completing this program, please visit the Professional Licensure/Certification Disclosures by State (<https://opair.psu.edu/plc/dashboard/>) interactive map.

The Smeal College baccalaureate degree in Accounting (ACCTG_BS) consists of 120 credits which includes specific accounting and related courses. Graduates of the program are well positioned to sit for the Certified Public Accounting (CPA) exam in most states. To become a certified public account, an additional 30 credits are needed along with passing the CPA exam and full-time work experience under the supervision of a CPA accountant. Additional requirements may be necessary and vary from state to state.
